Have you ever heard someone say that art can change the world? Well it can! Art is an amazing tool that humans have used since we dwelled in caves to express our understanding of the world around us. Art can help us leave a legacy of our knowledge, express our deepest emotions, and tell stories to people who may or may not ever get to meet us in person.

Drawing is one of the most fundamental tools to have when you decide to create. Drawing things is sometimes thought to be an inborn talent, but the truth is that anybody with the drive to be discerning and creative can pick up drawing easily. The trick is to find your own style!

Emulating others is often the most difficult thing an artist does to themselves. Nobody should compare their art to somebody else's. That can damage your self-esteem and make you unappreciative of your own unique style. If you truly believe in art, you have to believe in the power of your own creativity and the validity of everybody's creative voice, even if it doesn't match your own, and especially if it doesn't match everyone else's.

Learning to draw is very worthwhile. It's therapeutic, fun, and can make great gifts for the whole family! If you're new to drawing, welcome aboard! It's a wonderful hobby that can be endlessly rewarding if you don't nitpick yourself too much! Just like anything else, practice makes perfect, and even if you can't always convey the details you hope for as well as you would like to, your finished product is a masterpiece in itself. Don't forget that, and have fun!
